

University of Idaho Arboretum and Botanical Garden

Paul Warnick
5/21/2010

Commemorative Granite Benches

| Year | Commemorating:                           | Quote                                                                                                                                      | Location |
|------|------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1997 | Anderson, William                        |                                                                                                                                            | S-9      |
| 2002 | Bizeau, Elwood & Jean                    | Be grateful for Life, kind to others, andhonest with yourself                                                                          | R-29     |
| 2000 | Bush, Elsbeth                            | And `tis my faith that every flowerEnjoys the air it breathes.---William Wordsworth, 1798                                          | L-24     |
| 1996 | Cooper, Thomas                           |                                                                                                                                            | S-10     |
| 1999 | Dobler, Clifford & NormaWoodhouse    | "The fragrance always remainsin the hand that gives the rose."                                                                         | P-12     |
| 1997 | Evans, Ray & LaVerne                     |                                                                                                                                            | V-12     |
| 1998 | Farmhouse Fraternity 40thAnniversary | He best builds lives of other men: K R V W D U W V I U R P Z L--D. Howard Doane                                                    | T-13     |
| 1996 | Fenwick, Harry S. & Lucille              |                                                                                                                                            | U-4      |
| 2004 | Fosberg, Maynard &Margaret           | Conservation is a state of harmony between men and land.--Aldo Leopold, 1949 inA Sand County Almanac                               | P-30     |
| 2000 | Golis, Eugene & Dale                     | As a solid rock is not shaken by a strong gale,so wise persons remain unaffected by praise or censure.--Buddha, 5th Century , B.C. | W-3      |
| 1999 | Horgan, Charles & Ruth                   | The foundation of every state is the education of its youth.--Diogenes the Cynic, c.400 -c.325 B.C.                                    | O-22     |
| 1999 | Jennison, Herb                           | How could such sweet and wholesome hoursBe reckoned but with herbs and flowers!--A. Marvell, 1681                                  | R-17     |
| 1997 | Johnson, Bonnie McKay                    | I saw the last leaf of fallask the first snowflake to dance.--Mark C. Johnson, 1969                                                | U-10     |

University of Idaho Arboretum and Botanical Garden

Paul Warnick
5/21/2010

Commemorative Granite Benches

| Year | Commemorating:      | Quote                                                                                                                                                        | Location |
|------|---------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 2003 | King, Malcolm D.    | It is the marriage of the soul with Nature that makes the intellect fruitful, and gives birth to the imagination.--Henry David Thoreau (1817 -1862)      | O-25     |
| 2003 | Kirkland, Lois      | He who refreshes others will himself be refreshed.--Proverbs 11:25 (N.I.V.)                                                                              | O-27     |
| 1996 | Larson, Jacqueline  |                                                                                                                                                              | T-3      |
| 1999 | Lyle, James & Doris | $ Q G K H U H Z H K D Y H , G D K R T«6                                                                                                                     |          |
|      |                     | I will touch a hundred flowersand not pick one.I will look at cliffs and cloudsWith quiet eyes,Watch the wind T«3h6 Tc 49.32 -15.112.024 dov |          |
| 1998 | Mann, Paul & Elsie  |                                                                                                                                                              |          |

University of Idaho Arboretum and Botanical Garden

Paul Warnick
5/21/2010

Commemorative Granite Benches

| Year | Commemorating: | Quote | Location |
|------|----------------|-------|----------|
|------|----------------|-------|----------|

University of Idaho Arboretum and Botanical Garden

Paul Warnick
5/21/2010

Commemorative Granite Benches

| Year | Commemorating:                                                       | Quote                                                                                                                                                                   | Location |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1998 | Stubbs, Merl & Erna                                                  | To every thing there is a season, and a time toevery purpose under the heaven.--Ecclesiastes 3:1                                                                | R-25     |
| 2006 | Sutton, Charles & JoanneDonna , Charles III, Kevin, &Richard | If you have a garden and a library,you have everything you need.--Marcus Tullius Cicero (106 - 43 B.C.)                                                         | U-1      |
| 2000 | Tousley, R. Dean & Ruth H.                                           | I part the out thrusting branchesand come in beneaththe blessed and the blessing trees.Though I am silentthere is singing around me.--Wendell Berry | Q-8      |
| 2003 | Whitesel, Marie H.                                                   | Thanks to art, instead of seeing one world only, ourown, we see that world multiply itself and we have                                                              |          |