

Species Diversity: A Management Tool for Woodland Owners

William E. Schlosser

Forest landowners are constantly given the bad news “something is killing your trees...again.” Most forest owners know that forests can be risky investments.

This information first appeared in Woodland NOTES, Vol. 4, No. 3.

About the Author: William E. Schlosser is a former Area Extension Educator - Forestry and Professor at the University of Idaho.