Azadi (freedom): Feminist works by scholars of colour

This reading group will run on a monthly-basis where sessions will be held on the last Thursday of every month, between 5-6pm to avoid meeting clashes. All sessions will be held over zoom for the first year. Details and updates will be posted on the website.

- To what degree do critical feminist writers of colour have the 'freedom' and 'safety' to write about and through their lived 'truths'?
- What does it mean to write through a critical feminist lens that captures the intersections, nuances and complications of lived experiences?
- How does this month's writing challenge some of the power dynamics and dominant feminist discourses?
- What emotional tolls do feminist scholars of colour embody as part of their research and writing experiences?
- How can poetry be used to address feminist issues and silences by scholars of colour?

Reading Session 1: Why Avtar Brah and this paper?

I began this meditation with an invitation for you to write back.

I hope that you will respond and participate in this discussion.

Reading Month 2: Thursday 28th October, 2021, 5-6pm.

A short pocket-
